

Troy Vincent

NFL Executive Vice President of Football Operations; Co-Founder of A Call To Men

Please contact a GDA agent for information.

Topics

- Abuse / Domestic Violence
- Activism / Philanthropy / Civic Engagement
- Bullying / Violence
- Leadership
- Social Responsibility
- Sports Related

About Troy Vincent

Troy Vincent is the Executive Vice President of Football Operations at the National Football League, beginning his football career as the 7th overall pick in the first round for the Miami Dolphins in the 1992 NFL Draft. After 15 seasons of playing in the league, Troy continues to be nominated for the Pro Football Hall of Fame and has been inducted into the Hall of Fame for the Philadelphia Eagles, the State of Pennsylvania, the University of Wisconsin and Pennsbury High School.

In his current position with the NFL, he employs the highest standards to enhance and preserve football and its value to society. His transformational and visionary leadership approach promotes using the game of football to positively impact people's lives through excellence and service by applying clarity, consistency and credibility to all aspects of football operations.

Vincent holds a broad range of responsibilities for the business of football, including game analytics, accountability, integrity of the game, development and growth, and policies and procedures relating to NFL games, including protecting players from unnecessary risk.

"It's a great blessing to have moved from serving our fans as a player to now serving them through the operations of the game. Football transcends race, age, gender and other elements of society and creates community by bringing people together across our great nation," says Vincent. "The future of football is bright because the integration of technology, technique, and rule adjustments are making our game progressively better."

As a national leader and advocate against domestic violence, sexual assault and child abuse, Troy's commitment to LEADERSHIP OVER VIOLENCE has allowed him to have a powerful voice for the voiceless. Troy demonstrates his character and desire to affect change by visiting shelters, speaking to men's groups and challenging others to lend their platforms to fight injustice.

He is the only player in history to have received the NFL Walter Payton Man of the Year award, NFL Players Association Byron Whizzer White Award, Sporting News #1 Good Guy, and NFL Athletes in Action Bart Starr Award. Vincent also received the National Jefferson Award for Public Service for extraordinary public service and making the world a better place to live.

Select Keynotes

- A Call to Men - Break the Cycle of Abuse

Vincent's message, "Leadership over Violence," will include his personal story of growing up in a home with domestic violence. He will share how his involvement in sports helped him turn his pain into progress and inspired his lifelong commitment to end domestic violence and sexual assault.

In 2016, Vincent received the Call to Men Award for Institutional Change for his efforts to raise awareness and prevent violence against girls and women. In 2015, he received the Humanitarian Award: Voice Over Violence, for his work to build healthy relationships and communities free from sexual, domestic and interpersonal violence.

- Customized Speech by Troy Vincent

Troy Vincent, Executive Vice President of Football Operations, informs the business of the NFL through the unique lens of his previous roles as a player, a player's union president, and the Senior Vice President of Player Engagement. He employs the highest standards to enhance and preserve football and its value to society. His transformational leadership approach promotes professional development of staff, players, coaches and officials by applying a vision of clarity, consistency and credibility to all aspects of football operations. Vincent holds a broad range of responsibilities for the business of football, including game analytics, accountability, integrity of the game, development and growth, and policies and procedures relating to NFL games, including protecting players from unnecessary risk. Vincent long has been a promoter of the character and leadership values that football contributes to society. He is the only player in history to have received the NFL Walter Payton Man of the Year award, NFL Players Association Byron Whizzer White Award, Sporting News #1 Good Guy, and NFL Athletes in Action Bart Starr Award. Vincent is considered a national leader as an advocate against domestic violence and sexual assault.

- The Winning Factor: How Your Team Can Achieve True Excellence by Leading with Character

"To use the game of football to positively impact lives through excellence and service" is the vision statement for NFL Football Operations. This is also the embodiment of Troy Vincent's personal philosophy on leadership. He is a true transformational leader who has successfully transferred his on-field team building skills to the corporate environment. Troy speaks about building leaders by empowering their skills as a servant leader emphasizing character, work ethic, and the desire to pursue perfection while attaining excellence.

His transformational leadership approach promotes professional development of staff, players, coaches and officials by applying a vision of clarity, consistency and credibility to all aspects of football operations. Vincent holds a broad range of responsibilities for the business of football, including game analytics, accountability, integrity of the game, development and growth, and policies and procedures relating to NFL games, including protecting players from unnecessary risk.

"It's a great blessing to have moved from serving our fans as a player to now serving them through the operations of the game. Football transcends race, age, gender and other elements of society and creates community by bringing people together across our great nation," says Vincent. "The future of football is bright because the integration of technology, technique, and rule adjustments are making our game progressively better."