About Mike Maddock

Mike Maddock is an entrepreneur, an inventor, a writer and a keynote speaker. Mike calls himself an Idea Monkey because he loves to solve problems with disruptive ideas. This passion for problem solving led him to establish Maddock Douglas, Inc. in 1991. Maddock Douglas has become an internationally recognized innovation agency that helps leading corporations invent and launch new products, services and business models. It is the perfect place for Idea Monkeys and the (Ring) Leaders who keep them on track.

Entrepreneurship is a big part of Mike's life and he has launched six successful businesses. He also cochairs the Gathering of Titans entrepreneurial conclave at MIT, he is past president of both Entrepreneurs' Organization and Young Presidents' Organization, both chapters located in Chicago.

A doodler, turned cartoonist, turned author, Mike has been using words and pictures to get laughs and build ideas his entire life. Today, Mike is a featured columnist for Bloomberg Businessweek and Forbes and author of four books about entrepreneurship and innovation: Plan D (which is about Disruptors), Free the Idea Monkey (which is about balancing vision and execution) and Brand New (which is about how great brands invent and launch new products, services, and business models).

Mike is a highly rated keynote speaker and has a passion for inspiring and empowering innovation leaders by helping them build the types of culture and processes that lead to new product success.

- ◊ You have heard of Maslow's Hierarchy of Needs, now you will understand the Innovator's Hierarchy of Needs
- ◊ Four places teams get stuck on the innovation journey and how to avoid them
- ◊ The critical difference between invention and innovation

• INNOVATION BOOT CAMP

Is your executive team ready to lead the innovation charge? This half, or full-day boot camp is designed to help businesses learn the proven, fundamental innovation methods that Fortune 500s use to get the most out of their people, their processes and their intellectual property.

The Innovation Boot Camp is designed to jump-start your team and provide the common language, focus, tools and momentum to heighten the likelihood of success.

Key takeaways include:

- ◊ How to create both evolutionary and revolutionary ideas
- ◊ 3 proven steps that ensure innovation success
- ◊ How to audit, prioritize and manage an innovation portfolio
- ◊ Fun techniques to consistently create bigger ideas
- ◊ The top 3 reasons big ideas fail and what you can do to overcome them

• Innovation Unstuck

Learn how and why innovation teams get stuck and proven ways to break them free. How can a sophisticated organization be so committed to a life-or-death mission – innovation – but still not achieve it? This was the innovation paradox we wrote about in our first book Brand New: Solving the Innovation Paradox.

Sadly, years later, research shows that the paradox is more pronounced today than ever. Companies are still getting stuck despite 84 percent of CEOs saying innovation is critical to their strategy (a 20 percent jump since we wrote the book). The good news is that the pattern of where and how innovation teams get stuck is predictable. Better yet, there are proven and reliable ways to get your team unstuck, accelerating innovation success in your company.

- PLAN D—BE THE DISRUPTOR!

What do Oprah Winfrey, Elon Musk, Richard Branson and Walt Disney have in common? They are all Disruptors, which means they know how to blow sh up for the good of the whole.

Do you?

Boxer Mike Tyson famously said, “Everyone has a plan until you get punched in the mouth.” Today, leaders are being “punched in the face” by the confluence of game-changing technology, aggressive entrepreneurs and impatient consumers. This leaves winning leaders with three choices: They can be the Disruptors themselves, partner with Disruptors, or learn how to manage Disruptors even better.

This keynote presentation is based on Mike’s best-selling book Plan D. It is a highly entertaining talk that focuses on the unexpected, amusing and replicable superhero powers of business Disruptors. Mike will teach you how to dream, drive and deliver like the “crazy ones.”

Key takeaways include:

- ◊ The three keys to being the Disruptor—not the disrupted
- ◊ Disruptor frameworks that you can easily “parallel engineer” (read: steal)
- ◊ How Disruptors find a yin for their yang
- ◊ Why Disruptors believe in ghosts (and you should too)

* This fun, interactive presentation was the second highest at the YPO Regional Couples Retreat in Telluride, Colorado. Mike finished second to a sex therapist at a couples retreat. He can live with this outcome. So can his wife.
